In strengthening our position as Southern Oklahoma and North Texas' leading Internet provider, Rhino Communications would like to welcome Reliacom's valued customers.

Thank you for your commitment in the past, we look forward to providing you with the quality of service that Rhino Communications has been providing since 1990. Rhino Communications will continue its commitment to provide leading edge technology along with great service. By combining the best elements of both companies, Rhino Communications will be able to offer more technology, faster response times and increased customer support. Rhino Communications' goal is to provide the best Internet experience and leading technology, directly benefiting you our valued customers.

We hope that you will join us in our excitement about this change.
